- Tour # 10—Brasilia - 1½ days

SAFETY AT SEA

Suggestions for the avoidance of accidents.

The following precautions are suggested for the avoidance of accidents during bad weather, particularly when the ship is pitching or rolling.

1. NEVER let go of the hand-rails when proceeding up or down companionways.

2. ALWAYS hold on to safety ropes, hand rails or secured furniture when crossing open lobbies, going through public rooms or in the Dining Rooms.

3. Ladies are advised to wear low heel shoes.

4. In bad weather, do not stroll about the ship unnecessarily, remain seated in furniture that is secured.

5. When sitting in a straight back chair, brace yourself. If the chair should move while you are at your meal, hold on to the table and do not attempt to save movable utensils or equipment.

6. Avoid holding on to the bathroom or other doors—the ship movement may suddenly cause the door to close.

7. If you see unsecured baggage in your stateroom, call your steward.

8. Do not allow children to RUN or PLAY unattended.

9. Use Berth Ladder to enter Upper Bed. Make certain the ladder is securely placed.

10. PLEASE, do not ignore these suggestions. They are for your own safety.

CRUISE TALK AND SOCIAL NOTES By Marion Brand, Social Directress

Once again, on behalf of the master, Commodore Leroy J. Alexanderson and the entire crew of the S.S. United States, I'd like to welcome everyone aboard our great flagship.

As I'm sure you have already read in today's program, you will have an opportunity to meet our wonderful "Skipper" this evening at his official reception, one of the highlight events of your cruise.

Our Cruise Director, Mike Rayhill, assisted by Carey Gregory, has planned a varied and interesting program of events for your enjoyment. We all sincerely hope that those of you who wish to join in the activities will do so wholeheartedly.

To those passengers who simply wish to spend their hours aboard undisturbed and relaxed we promise to respect your tranquility.

Last night the members of the Cruise staff were formally introduced, and I thought you might like to review our names. We are Jim and Ginger Gaffney, Golf Pro and Assistant, Bill Howe, Lecturer, Mel Rose, Bridge Instructor and Jim Lorah, Manager, American Express Co. Shore Excursion Staff.

On the distaff side we have our Social Directresses Claire Stevenson, Agnes Woodrum, and yours truly. Ladies stop by and get acquainted at our Hostess meeting at 10:30 A.M. this morning in the Observation Lounge.

For the next 39 days the S.S. UNITED STATES will be your floating resort home. To insure that each day is a full and gratifying one, it is imperative that you become acquainted with your fellow passengers. So don't be shy! Smile and say "hello" to everyone you see — you'll be surprised how contagious it is.

Dress: In order that propriety may be maintained on board the S.S. UNITED STATES, passengers are requested to be suitably attired when entering the Dining Salons, Main Ballroom and Showboat Rooms after 6:30 P.M.; ladies are asked to refrain from wearing shorts and gentlemen are required to wear a coat or jacket with tie.

The American Express Tours Ashore Office located on Upper Deck, Aft, Starboard Side will be open today from 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. and 2:30 to 4:30 P.M.

Passengers who are holding receipts for tours booked before sailing are asked to exchange their receipts for the actual tour tickets today. To help avoid undue congestion those whose family names begin with the letters A through L are requested to come during the morning office hours and those whose family names begin with the letters M through Z during the afternoon office hours.

Tour Closings

Today until 4:00 P.M. cruise members will be afforded the final opportunity to purchase or cancel membership in the following tours:

Tour # 1—Little Holland
Tour # 2—Little Holland
Tour # 3—A Dutch Treat

Special Notices

Purchases Ashore—Passengers making purchases ashore, for delivery on board, should be sure their names and room numbers are plainly shown on all packages.

The Tobacco Shop will be closed in port due to Customs regulations. Passengers should obtain whatever supplies they require before the arrival of the SS UNITED STATES at Curacao.

Please carry CRUISE IDENTIFICATION CARD — TENDER PASS when going ashore.

Visitors will not be permitted aboard while the vessel is in port.

CURACAO

Location — The territory of the Netherlands Antilles consists of the Islands of Curacao, Aruba and Bonaire off the coast of Venezuela and a group of small islands at the north end of the Leeward Islands 500 miles away. Willemstad is the capital, a city of 65,000

Characteristics — Curacao has the quaint fairytale charm of The Netherlands itself. The gabled houses and bridges are all part of the illusion.

Population — Approximately 207,000 of which 134,000 live on the island of Curacao.

Size — Curacao is 38 miles long and 2½ to 7 miles wide.

General — Formerly a Dutch colony, the Netherlands Antilles has been autonomous since 1954, an integral part of The Netherlands with complete freedom in its internal affairs. There are many ancient buildings to be seen in Willemstad. You should go to see the oldest Protestant church on the islands, built in 1769, located on the square right behind the Government House. The synagogue dates back to 1732 and is the oldest in the Western Hemisphere. You will be interested in seeing Franklin D. Roosevelt House, the mansion and offices of the American consul, located on the top of Ararat Hill, from which you get a magnificent view of Willemstad and the sea. The business as well as the old residential section of the city have marvelous examples of Dutch colonial architecture. Take a trip across the pontoon bridge to Punda, the oldest section of Willemstad. Next you are in Fort Amsterdam, where the official residence of the Governor of The Netherlands Antilles is located.

Climate — The sun shines almost continually and cool breezes prevail. The rainfall is scant with short showers. Average temperature in January is 80 degrees.

Currency — Approximately 2 Guilders to the U.S. $1. Most stores accept U.S. currency.

Gambling — There are casinos in the Inter Continental and Curacao Hilton Hotels.

Language — Dutch, Spanish and English. Also a native language called Papiamento.

Liquor — Curacao is the famous local liqueur. There are also imported whiskies to be had at more reasonable prices than at home.

Shopping — Curacao, because of its low import duty of 3.3% on nearly all goods is one of the greatest shopping centers in the Western Hemisphere. European cameras and photographic accessories, jewelry, liquor and liqueurs. Swiss watches, French perfumes, silk and carved ivory from the Orient, Brazilian and Argentine leather goods, Portuguese embroideries and laces, Spanish shawls, Irish linen, Delft Blue porcelain, silverware and brassware. Dutch dolls are good for souvenirs.

The SS UNITED STATES will be berthed at Shell Oil Company Pier No. 3 at Caracas Bay which is about 20 minutes from Willemstad by taxi. There will be ample taxis at the Pier for conveyance of passengers to Willemstad. Taxi fare is $1.00 per person one way with a minimum of $4.00 per car.

The American Express Tours Ashore Office located on Upper Deck, Aft, Starboard Side will be open today from 9:30 to 11:30 A.M. and 2:30 to 4:30 P.M.

Any cruise members who are holding receipts for tours booked prior to sailing are urgently requested to exchange them for the tour tickets during office hours today.

CUSTOMS NOTICES

No Prohibition

AIRPORT AREA

Customs Area

SPECIAL NOTICES PROGRAM NO. 4

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO AMERICAN TOURISTS PURCHASING MERCHANTISE IN THE CARIBBEAN AREA — The United States Treasury Department has requested Steamship Carriers to post the following regulation:

"The Foreign Assets Control Regulations of the United States Treasury Department prohibit Americans from purchasing in the Caribbean Area and importing into the United States merchandise of Communist Chinese, North Korean, or North Viet-Namese origin. This is true, even though the goods are marked as having been produced elsewhere.

The restrictions also apply to all types of merchandise that have traditionally been imported into the United States from mainland China in the past, such as scroll paintings, antiques, and garments of Chinese-type. Again, this is true regardless of the country in which it is claimed they originated.

These restrictions further apply to certain types of merchandise marked as having been made in Hong Kong or any Soviet bloc country. Included in this category are such items as embroidered linens, ivories, jade carvings, jade jewelry, ceramics, camphorwood, teak and other hardwood manufactures.

Tourists should exercise special care to avoid purchases of prohibited merchandise since Customs officials will detain and may seize such merchandise regardless of its alleged origin. Licenses for the release of detained merchandise are seldom granted. Tourists have had particular difficulty with embroidered linens from Communist China which were marked as Hong Kong, Belgian or Madeira Linens."

UNITED STATES CUSTOMS — Residents of the United States on their return to the U.S. are entitled to free entry of certain articles within the limitations prescribed by the U.S. Customs authorities in the amount of $100.00 provided this exemption is not requested more than once during any thirty day period. Any number of gifts (except liquor, tobacco products, or perfumes valued at more than $1.00) may be sent by mail so long as the value of shipments received by any one person in any one day does not exceed $10.00. The value of such gifts mailed from abroad is not applied against the authorized exemptions. Please ask for a copy of "United States Customs Hints" booklet at the Purser's Office.

The American Express Tours Ashore Office will be closed all day today during our visit to Curacao. ✓

Brazilian Immigration Authorities require that passenger's passports be available and under security while the SS UNITED STATES is docked at Rio de Janeiro.

Passengers are therefore respectfully requested to deposit their passports at the Purser's Office (Main Deck Square) on Thursday and Friday, January 30 and 31 between 9 AM and 9PM. Passengers will be issued a RECEIPT for their passports. This receipt will be used as a Landing Card and boarding pass while the vessel is at Rio de Janeiro.

It is most important that the aforementioned receipt remain in your possession and extreme caution be exercised not to lose or misplace this document.

IT IS WITH REGRET WE ADVISE NO VISITORS WILL BE PERMITTED ON BOARD WHILE THE VESSEL IS DOCKED IN RIO DE JANEIRO.

RIO DE JANEIRO

LOCATION — Brazil, larger than continental United States, occupies the east-central section of South America and includes several climatic regions—the tropical Amazon basin near the equator, the subtropical central section, and the temperate mountainous regions facing the southern coast.

CHARACTERISTICS — Rio de Janeiro is a city of beauty, of white buildings, mosaic walks, blue, blue water, purple mountains. It is a city of gaiety, a carnival city, ready to amuse you. Its Copacabana Beach is world famous. You can have fun in Rio. The hotels are superb, the scenery fabulous. São Paulo is a fast-growing industrial center, where tourists are treated wonderfully.

POPULATION — Estimated approximately 82,222,000.

SIZE — 3,286,470 square miles; 2,600 miles long and equally wide.

CAPITAL — Brasilia, a brand-new city already with a population of over 320,000. Rio de Janeiro, the former capital, has a metropolitan population of 4,700,000 and São Paulo has nearly 6,000,000.

FOOD — Naturally, coffee is plentiful, for Brazil is the world's largest producer of coffee. All the hotels serve international food if you don't want to sample the native dishes. If you do, however, try feijoada, made of meat, black beans and rice, cooked separately and spiced with herbs. The Brazilians do well by fish of all sorts. If you like hot food try Vatapá, a fish porridge which contains several varieties of fish and shrimp mixed with local vegetable oil called dendé.

RESTAURANTS — Around Copacabana and Leme beaches, Ouro Verde and Excelsior restaurants are considered the finest Restaurants specializing in French cuisine are very popular. Le Bistro and Le Bec Fin are the best. For those who like Italian food, Al Pappagallo and Cantiina Sorrento are well recommended. The Cabaca Grande and Rio Minho serve wonderful seafood Brazilian style. Go to Corridinho's and Galo's for Portuguese specialties. Churrascaria Gaucha and Recreio for barbecued meat. Restaurant Mesbla serves fine food and offers a magnificent view of Sugar Loaf and the famous Rio bay. The better hotel restaurants in the city are the Gloria, Ambassador and Serrador. For international cuisines, the Terasse in the Avenida Central skyscraper building, and the restaurant in the Museum of Modern Art. For Russian food, Doubianski, for Chinese food, Hong Kong Restaurant and Kin Wha.

LIQUOR — Excellent native wines. The best with local dishes are white Precioso, rosé Bernard Taillan and red Dreher. There are good Brazilian rum and gin. Scotch and other imported liquors are expensive. Brazilian beer is fine and costs about 25c a quart. Pilsen Extra and Brahma Extra are recommended. Draft beer is called Chopp (pronounced "shóppy").

NIGHT CLUBS — In Rio: Sacha's and The Top Club are the swankiest Copacabana Beach spots. Expensive but nice. Excellent food and soft music for dancing. Fred's has a good Brazilian floor show. The best known hotel night club is the Midnight Room in the Copacabana. On-the-Rocks and Elbodegon are also very smart night spots. Others feature dancing and entertainment usually with a moderate cover or minimum charge. Some of the better known, quiet, more intimate places are the Scotch Bar, Michell's, The Drink, Kilt Club and Crazy Rabbit.

CURRENCY — The monetary unit is the cruzeiro, worth CR$2200 to U.S. $1, but rate is subject to change so check locally. You get best value in exchange at the cambios (money exchange shops).

WHAT TO BUY — The best buys in Brazil are precious gems, both set and unset. Topazes, amethysts, aquamarines and tourmalines are the more popular stones. Alligator bags and other leather goods are handsome. Wood carvings, antique silver, handmade lingerie, swimsuits, sportswear and blouses are all good buys here. Note: Shipping packages out of Brazil is complicated and expensive.

SHOPS AND STORES — In Rio: H. Stern, Av. Rio Branco, 173, Amsterdam, Rua Mexico, 41, and Maximino, Rua Santa Clara, 27-B, for set and unset precious stones. Curiopan, Avenida Rio Branco 175, Casa Hugo, Rua Buenos Aires, 91, and Zitrin, Rua Buenos Aires, 110, for jewels, fine curios; Imperial Modas Rua Gonçalves Dias 56, for lingerie and wonderful handmade blouses; Casa Sloper, Rua Uruguaiana 55, Mesbla, Rua do Passio 42, Sears Rockbuck, Praia do Botafogo 400 are the best department stores in the city. Perfumarias Carneiro, Rua do Ouvidor, 103, and Casa Hermanny, Rua Gonçalves Dias, 50, for French perfumes (but they're expensive). For gloves, shoes, bags, Marketa's, Zita's and Lilian's.

WHERE TO GO—SIGHTING — Rio de Janeiro. Rio is full of things to see. You can scarcely miss the magnificent Copacabana Beach section with its serpentine mosaic walk famed the world over. Neither can you miss Sugar Loaf Mountain and Corcovado (Hunchback Mountain) which tower over the city. Sugar Loaf is a huge granite cone at the entrance of the bay. Take the cable car to Sugar Loaf and a cog railway to Corcovado. The summit of Corcovado is crowned by the famed statue of Christ the Redeemer. The views from these two spots are fabulous. Visit the Gavea district by car; it affords some of the most beautiful scenery anywhere. This is where the race-track is, too. Among the many churches, be sure to see the Church of Nossa Senhora da Glória do Outeiro with its Bible scenes in blue tile. The São Bento Monastery is interesting, but only men are allowed in the cloisters. The Guanabara Palace, now housing the Governor's office, is at Rua Pinheiro Machado, was once the residence of Princess Izabel. The São Joaquim Palace, Praça da Glória, is the official residence of the Archbishop.

The largest park in Rio is the Quinta da Boa Vista, containing the National Museum, once the residence of two emperors. It has zoological gardens, a small tropical fish aquarium. Botanical Gardens are situated near Lake Rodrigo de Freitas and the Jockey Club. Here is a great avenue of palms 2,200 feet long. Tijuca Forest is fine for a day's excursion.

A trip to Paquetá, an island at the far end of the bay, is a delight. You may hike, cycle or hire a carriage for a drive from one end of the island to the other. There is a ferry trip from Praça 15 de Novembro and a shorter ferry ride to Niteroi, a picturesque town across the bay, which is the residential section for the English colony. There are pleasant beaches at Icarai and Imbui for a quiet day's jaunt. Now famous Ipanema is within Rio's city limits.

UNITED STATES LINES AGENT IN RIO DE JANEIRO — Moore-McCormack (Navegacao) S. A., Edificio Avenida 25, Av Rio Branco 25, 7th Floor, Rio de Janeiro, G. B. Brasil, Telephone 43-0910.

CAPE TOWN

Cape Town was founded in 1652 by Jan van Riebeeck, originally as a refreshment station on the Dutch East India Company's sea-route to the East Indies. 300 Years of steady progress have transformed it into a great modern city as up-to-date and progressive as any in the world.

It is the Legislative capital of the Republic of South Africa and ranks with Rio de Janeiro, Naples and San Francisco as one of the great scenic cities of the world. It is the country's chief seaport and the second city in point of size, whilst its historical background and antiquity entitle it to be called the "Mother City of South Africa".

The city lies at the northern end of the Cape Peninsula, a narrow tongue of land with a length north-to-south of 32 miles and a maximum width of 10 miles. Its southernmost point is the Cape of Good Hope, described by Sir Francis Drake in 1578 as "the fairest Cape we saw in the whole circumference of the earth". To the north east the Peninsula is connected to the mainland by a low-lying sandy area known as the Cape Flats, separating Table Bay from False Bay by a distance of about 12 miles.

In the old Dutch days the town's main street (now Adderley Street) was called the Heerengracht, and this name has been given again to the broad street continuing from Adderley Street down to the harbour. Not many years ago this whole area was under the waters of Table Bay; now it forms a completely new and very attractive section of Cape Town, with broad avenues, a handsome fountain, and fine shops and buildings.

At the end of Castle Street, beyond the Grand Parade is the Castle. Dating from 1666, the Castle is the oldest building in existence in South Africa, and has been called "the cornerstone of South African history". It was built as a fort for the protection of the early colonists and this accounts for its design - a five-pointed star with gun-mounted bastions and a moat. In the State Rooms (entered via the beautiful Kat Balcony) there is a splendid collection of period furniture, historical paintings, china, glassware, etc., on loan from the William Fehr Collection.

Koopmans-De Wet House, 35 Strand Street, is <sup>the</sup> annex to South African Museum. This old town house was the home of Mrs. Koopmans-De Wet, a well-known member of Cape society, and is a valuable link with the days of the past. Parts of the house date from 1701, and it contains probably the finest collection of Dutch colonial furniture and antiques in existence today.

The Michaelis Collection of Pictures is in Old Town House, corner of Longmarket and Burg Streets, facing Greenmarket Square. In the 17th Century Dutch artists were embodying new aspects of still-life, seascapes and everyday life in their pictures, and of these subjects the collection has representative examples, the artists including Rembrandt, Frans Hals and Jan Steen.

The Old Supreme Court is at the top of Adderley Street, the last building on the left before Government Avenue. In the quaint cobbled inner courtyard is the graceful old building which housed the first Supreme Court and may possibly be the second-oldest building in South Africa, after the Castle.

Cultural History Museum (a department of the South African Museum). It is expected that this will be opened with exhibits showing the cultural history of the Cape, as well as Ancient Egypt, Imperial Rome, etc. The Maritime Galleries have ship models, relics, etc. tracing the links South Africa has with the sea. This museum is housed in the old Supreme Court.

Government Avenue: This is the beautiful avenue of ancient oaks (some dating from the 17th century) which connects the city with the residential area known as the Gardens. It is a continuation of the top of Adderley Street, is closed to traffic and may be used by pedestrians only. The avenue gives access to the Houses of Parliament, Public Library, Botanic Gardens, Art Gallery, Museum and Little Theatre.

The Municipal Botanic Gardens. Government Avenue. These beautiful gardens are only a few minutes walk from Adderley Street and provide a restful retreat from the busy city traffic. They occupy part of the size of the 17th century vegetable gardens established for the Dutch East India Company by Jan Riebeeck in 1652, and today cover 14 acres, with a wide variety of trees, plants and flowers. Features of interest are the hot-houses containing tropical plants, orchids and ferns; the rose gardens with a background of Table Mountain; the "scent garden" for the blind; four goldfish ponds; the aviary, near the Slave Bell; the sundial dated 1781 and two statues - Pegram's well known figure of Cecil Rhodes, and Governor Sir George Grey - near the Library. There is a tearoom with tables set out under the trees. The tame squirrels and doves are always a delight to children.

The South African Museum. In Government Avenue, above the Botanic Gardens. This excellent museum is visited by more than 190,000 people each year. The following exhibits should be especially noted: Inscribed stones beacons, etc., connected with the earliest explorations of the sea-route to the east; the quaint "Post Office" stones under which letters were left for collection by ships' crews; the tombstone of Jan van Riebeeck; Bushman paintings and rock engravings; a unique collection of casts of Bushmen and other Bantu, taken from living models; reconstructions of animals which inhabited Southern Africa 200 million years ago. There are excellent exhibits of South African animals, whales, birds, reptiles, fish, insects and Cape wild flowers. Guidebooks and postcards are on sale.

The South African National Gallery. Off Government Avenue, opposite top end of Botanic Gardens. The national art collection is housed in a fine building (comprising fourteen galleries) set in a spacious layout facing the Botanic Gardens and Signal Hill, and with Table Mountain and Devil's Peak as an impressive background.

Flower Market. This attractive market, in the heart of the city, gives a good idea of the wealth of the Cape flora. The flower sellers have their stands in Trafalgar Place, the broad lane leading from Adderley Street through to Parliament Street, below the Standard Bank and also on the Grand Parade, opposite the City Hall.

The Table Mountain Aerial Cableway enables visitors to reach the summit of the mountain within half-an-hour from the city. It operates daily weather permitting; a weather report being always available from the Visitors' Information Bureau.

The Aquarium on Beach Front Sea Point. This is one of the largest aquariums of its kind in Southern Africa. The exhibition hall, which is 120 feet long, is lined with South African marble and contains 43 exhibition tanks, of which 33 feature marine exhibits, while the remainder contain fresh-water specimens. Each tank (the two largest of which are 14 feet long) has a rock lining, and depicts faithfully the specimens' natural environment at the sea bottom. The tanks are lit by diffused light through the water from above. In addition there are 14 special tanks containing tropical fish exhibits.

The University of Cape Town. Rhodes' Drive, Rosebank. The University is situated on the Groote Schuur Estate above Rosebank, its fine group of buildings forming an impressive landmark on the slopes of the mountain. The grounds are beautifully laid out with rock gardens almost a mile long, and University commands a wonderful view over a wide expanse of country. The grounds are always open to visitors, and the various departments, laboratories, etc., may also be inspected on application to the Registrar's office which is above the College of Music, entry from Woolsack Road.

Groote Schuur. The Prime Minister's Residence. This residence occupies the site of the Dutch East India Company's grainstore in the 17th century - Groote Schuur means "great barn" - and belonged to Cecil Rhodes, by whom it was left to the nation. It is built in the Cape Dutch style of architecture, and contains fine specimens of colonial furniture and antiques, also interesting exhibits connected with the early history of Rhodesia. The bronze plaque on the central gable depicts the landing of Van Riebeeck in 1652. The gardens are beautiful at all times and especially so at Christmas time when the huge hydrangea garden is a wonderful sight.

The Rhodes Memorial. On slopes of Devil's Peak, Rosebank. This is the national memorial to Cecil Rhodes, founder of Rhodesia, South Africa's northern neighbour. It is built on a site which was a favourite of Rhodes, for it commands a wide panorama stretching from Table Bay on the left to the peaks of the Hottentots-Holland Mountains ahead, and to distant Cape Hangklip at the tip of False Bay, on the right. Its central feature is the famous equestrian statue, Energy, by G.R. Watts. From this a broad, stepped terrace flanked on either side by eight massive sphinx-like lions (by L.M. Swan) leads up to a classic temple in granite. Within stands a bust of Rhodes depicted in a mood of thought and meditation; the inscription is by Rudyard Kipling.

PART ELIZABETH:

Port Elizabeth, on the shores of Algoa Bay, although discovered in 1488 by the illustrious Navigator, Bartholomeu Dias, mainly owes its origin to the band of British Settlers who arrived in the first half of 1820. From a few huts and a military blockhouse of those distant days, the city has grown steadily in size and importance until today it is the second largest city in the Cape Province.

It has also achieved commercial and industrial distinction, due to its geographical position and to the hard work, foresighted enterprise and public spirit of its leaders.

The city stretches for over 10 miles along the shores of Algoa Bay at the foot of a plateau from 200 to 300 foot high, the ascent of which is so steep in some places that pedestrians use steps. The upper part of the city, known as The Hill, is a flat table-land on which is the principal residential area.

Places of interest in and around the city include The Campanile. This monument erected in 1923 commemorates the landing of some four thousand British settlers who arrived in 26 sailing ships in 1820. These settlers not only founded the city, but were largely responsible for the agricultural development of the hinterland. City Hall faces Market Square and Main Street which is the principal shopping center. Also on Market Square is the Public Library, which contains a large collection of local records and Africana. Fort Frederick has a collection of old cannon, and a good panoramic view of the Baakens River valley and the harbor of Algoa Bay. The hill surrounding the Fort is much admired for its fine collection of South African flora. Humewood Beach is one of the major marine resorts. There are all the amenities for bathing and ski-boating as well as restaurant facilities of the highest order. The Humewood Links, described as a "super course," is one of the best golf courses in Africa. Also at Humewood are found the Museum, Snake Park and Oceanarium.

Forty-three miles north of Port Elizabeth and a one hour's motor drive, is Addo Elephant National Park. Here on ten viewing ramps in various sections of the park can be viewed the elephants. Antelope may be viewed in Antelope Park.

The Visitor's Information Bureau is on the corner of White's Road next to the Public Library. United States Lines General Agents are Freight Services Limited, Astra House, Jetty Street, Telephone - TE 2-1921.

LUANDA FACTS SHEET HERE

LUANDA

The city of S. Paulo de Assuncao de Luanda was founded in February, 1575 by Paulo Dias de Novais, grandson of Bartolomeu Dias. He was given the title and power of Governor and Lord-Captain, Conqueror and Colonizer of the kingdom of Sebaste, on the island of Cabras, named today Luanda Island, moved from thence to the mainland, owing certainly to the difficulty in defending the island and the possibility of attacks from the sea.

He was followed by 350 men-at-arms, artisans and Jesuit missionaries amounting to 700 persons. After landing he established a fort on the hill facing the bay, giving it the name of S. Miguel. This was the starting point of the city of Luanda.

The name of Luanda is probably derived from -axilunda- a word of the kimbundo dialect meaning, "fishingnet throwers", by which the natives dedicated to fishing, were known from times long past.

For about twenty years the incipient settlement was limited to a few houses, surrounding the bastion of the hill, but gradually it spread downwards and began to extend along the bay, beginning to look like a small town. Slowly and with what difficulties the first public and private buildings arose, streets were planned and churches were constructed. This, in 1640 the town was already in the general design similar to that of the present day.

In 1641 the town was attacked and taken by the Dutch. This was a ~~woeful~~ consequence of the fall of Portugal under the sovereignty of the Habsburgs - the population having escaped to Massangano, resisting the attacks until 1648 when Salvador Correia de Sa e Benevides, Admiral of the South Seas, coming from Brazil with an army, reconquered it after some days of fighting. The Dutch surrendered on the 15th of August.

Luanda suffered very much, not only from enemy pillage but also on account of the firing, from the battery of S. Miguel Fort whose name was changed to New Amsterdam - traces of the primitive Flemish plan still remain today - and a new period started.

The war ended, the peace began. The houses were, thus, rebuilt and new ones were raised. In order to stimulate the settlement plots of land were granted to anyone who would build a house.

Little by little, the town recovered from its wounds, pursuing its steady way towards the future. Churches, fortresses and glorious monuments arose, a just reason of pride today.

The fort of S. Pedro da Barra, formidable fortress standing sheer above the sea; the Church of Nazare, so beautiful in its simplicity, and so rich for its memories and its marvellous mosaics representing the battle of Ambulla; the church of Cabo - church of fishermen, church of the sea - white and hidden amidst the coconut trees; the church of the Jesuits, cold, alone upright as the soul of Loyola; the Carmelite, church resplendent in gold and effigies, all of them attesting the faith of a nation desiring to be great.

In the 18 century the Government Palace was built. Today, completely remodelled, the Infantry Barracks, the Public Square and the Custom House, now rebuilt.

In the mid-nineteenth century Luanda made a large step forward; the first market, the first cemetery and the Hospital of D. Maria Pia are built, the last named being still admired today for its poise and magnificent and functional design.

Trade, formerly limited to slaves, and the foodstuffs, was and ivory increased enormously this century and nowadays, through the fully equipped port of Luanda, already enlarged, the richest products of the Province are exported, such as coffee, diamonds, iron and manganese ores, petroleum and its derivatives.

The export of cotto, sisal and other fibres is almost entirely done through Luanda, head of the railway system that penetrates through the heart of Ambaca, today reaching Majanje with a total length of 510 kilometres.

The city of Luanda surrounded by beaches stretching along the bay, rising over mounts and hills, proud of its three hundred thousand inhabitants covered with blossomy acacias, throws its skyscrapers upwards as proclaiming its will and confidence in the future. With its marvellous environments and dreamy islands, asphalted and rectilinear, flooded by torrents of neon. Luanda of today is like a wonderful jewel when the night, the big African night, falls with its blood-red sunsets, reflected on the quiet waters of the bay.

SPECIAL NOTICES

DAKAR

LOCATION — Senegal lies along the most westerly part of the coast of Africa. Its capital, Dakar, is the gateway to the group of new republics that are members of the French Community.

CHARACTERISTICS — This is a land of sunshine and bright colors, a land of contrasts between the old and the new. Dakar is a modern city with handsome buildings, spacious avenues. But only a few miles away, in country villages, the traditional African way of life continues with but little change.

POPULATION — 3,500,000—of which 40,000 are non-Africans.

CAPITAL — Dakar, with a population of 475,000 (of which about 25,000 are non-Africans).

GOVERNMENT — Senegal is an independent Republic.

RESTAURANTS — There are a number of good restaurants in Dakar, serving first class French cuisine. Recommended are the Croix du Sud, Hotel N'Gor and Folklore. Lunch or dinner with wine runs about $7 to $10 per person. Langouste (crayfish) is a specialty. Filet steaks are good, but if you like them medium rare, ask for them well done or a point. For a lighter type of meal try the Plaza Cafeteria, or the Croix du Sud and Majestic Hotel snack bars. Le Ramatou, near the airport, specializes in interesting African dishes.

WHERE TO GO—SIGHTSEEING IN DAKAR — See the native markets where the women in gaily colored costumes sell local produce, and where Moors from the northern deserts offer intricate silver work for sale. Visit the artisan village of Soumbedioune on the Corniche and bargain briskly for ivory carvings, amulets, masks and crocodile and lizard-skin purses. No bargaining, but quality is guaranteed at the Nicholas shop and Curiosities d'Afrique, both on Pinet-Laprade Boulevard. Shops are closed from noon to 3:00 P.M.

Take a trip to Goree Island (about 20 minutes away by ferry), where slave traders imprisoned their victims before shipping them out of the country. There's an interesting museum here and a restaurant which serves good seafood.

TENERIFE

Long known as the "Fortunate Isles," the Canary Islands enjoy a perfect climate, magnificent scenic beauty and low, low prices. The Canaries lie 72 miles off the northwest coast of Africa, but they have been Spanish provinces since 1496.

Tenerife (30 by 60 miles; 538,000 population) and Grand Canary (30 by 40 miles; 455,000 population) are the two islands, of the seven that are inhabited, most popular with tourists. The major new hotel in Puerto de la Cruz on Tenerife is the Las Vegas, with swimming pool, rooftop night club, mini-golf. Also new are the Valle Mar, Tenerife-Playa, Belgica and Tigaiga. The islands also offer free-port prices on imported luxury goods and liquor.

Warmed by the Gulf Stream in winter, cooled by trade winds in summer and often months without a rainy day, these paradisical islands have daytime temperatures of 60° to 75° in winter, 70° to 85° in summer. The climate is ideal for growing luscious vegetables and fruits—Tenerife bananas are said to be the world's best—and gorgeous flowers; the Botanical Gardens of La Orotava on Tenerife are vivid with unusual tropical plants. There are two excellent golf courses (visitors' fees about $1 a day), tennis courts and year-round swimming at beaches and pools. Mountain climbers can tackle Mt. Teide (12,192 feet) on Tenerife, and there is deep-sea fishing.

Buses and taxis are reasonably inexpensive.

SPECIAL NOTICES

LISBON

LOCATION — Portugal lies between Spain and the Atlantic Ocean, a small rectangle in the southwest corner of the Iberian Peninsula. Lisbon, the capital, is 895 air miles from Paris and 319 air miles from Madrid. Among other places, the Azores, about 800 miles to the west, and Madeira Islands are an insular part of Portugal.

CHARACTERISTICS — Lisbon is one of the loveliest cities in Europe. Its hotels are fine and its restaurants famous. Portugal is like a picture post card. The climate is ideal, the drives and the scenery utterly beautiful.

POPULATION — Estimated 9,156,000.

SIZE — 380 miles long and 140 miles wide.

CAPITAL — Lisbon, with an estimated population of 800,750.

GOVERNMENT — A unitary and corporative Republic, the Portuguese constitution having been approved by plebiscite in March 1933.

CLIMATE — The average temperature in February is 52°.

LANGUAGE — The official language is Portuguese. In all the big cities, it will be easy to find someone who speaks English.

FOOD — Portuguese cuisine is delicious. Bacalhau à Gomes de Sá, a very special dish prepared with codfish, is worth trying. At the Nicola, one of the many cafés in Lisbon, you can try the tasty bacalhau à Nicola. For those who like a good steak, the bife na frigideira, which is served in all restaurants, is a delicious dish. Caldo verde is a soup made with mashed potatoes and thinly sliced cabbage, unbelievably good. Iscas com elas is another national dish, made with thin slices of liver very specially seasoned and served with French-fried potatoes.

RESTAURANTS — The most elegant places to eat in Lisbon are the Aviz, the Tavares, Bodegon, Gondola (Italian cooking), Cozinha d'el Rei, Macau and China (Chinese food), Vera Cruz and Negresco, which has dancing. The food is superb, and dinner comes to about $4, including wine. The Irmãos Unidos Gambrinus and Iberia, in the center of Lisbon's business district, are very popular and moderately priced.

WHAT TO BUY — Shopping in Lisbon, your best buys are cork products. Native craftsmen do amazing things with this material. You'll also find exceptionally fine gold and silver jewelry made in delicate filigree patterns, and flat silver; interesting native figurines and ceramics; rope-soled sports shoes; wines; fine embroideries and laces from Madeira and the Azores at a small fraction of their price in the States. Lovely tiles and Portuguese china are also tempting.

SHOPS AND STORES — Lisbon's largest department stores are Grandella, Chiado and Lanaldo. Smart specialty shops line Rua Garrett (Chiado), Rua do Ouro, Rua Augusta, Rossio and Rua da Prata. Stores are open weekdays from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. and from 3 to 7 P.M.

LIQUOR — Port wine, the famous wine which comes from the Douro Valley, and Madeira wine from Madeira, are world renowned. By law, 3/5 liter of regional wine (always good) is included with fixed-price meals. The most famous wines come from Bairrada, Ribatejo and Estremadura, where the large vineyards are. You may taste the best port wines at the Solar do Velho Porto in Lisbon and in Oporto at the cellars of the old concerns which for centuries have dealt with Port, Cointreau, Benedictine, Peppermint, Aniz, and many other liqueurs are available, as well as good brandies. American and English whiskies are available in most Portuguese bars.

(OVER)

NIGHT CLUBS — You'll get the best local atmosphere in the little cafés that are frequented by the Portuguese. Here, amid smoke and wine, the eerie fado is sung by entertainers and customers alike. Most of these haunts are in Bairro Alto, the best ones being the Folclore, Toca, Mesquita, Tipoa, Machado, Faia, Severa and Parreirinha. Gayer and more conventional are Tagide, Negresco, Nina, and the Casino in Estoril. There is dancing at all these places. Other good night spots are the Maxime, Cave, Montes Caros, Bico Dourado, in Lisbon; Choupana, Casino, in Estoril; Palm Beach and Van Gogo in Cascais. Popular bars include the Rex, York, Americano, English Bar, Lorde, Iberia. Dining at the Ritz is very chic. When there is entertainment, as much as 40% in taxes may be added onto your bill, but luckily drinks are inexpensive.

WHERE TO GO—SIGHTSEEING IN LISBON — Lisbon is a picturesque city, built like Rome, on seven hills. The buildings are painted various pastel shades. The green hills and the blue sea make a wonderful backdrop for this colorful town. The Belem Tower, built in the early 16th century, is a wonderful specimen of the Manueline style, with some Moorish influence, as its architect (Arruda) was one of the chief builders of the Portuguese fortresses in Morocco. The view from the ramparts is breathtaking.

The churches of Lisbon represent every conceivable style of architecture. Among the most beautiful and historically important are the Jeronimos Monastery and Church. In Manueline style, its cloisters of two pavements are regarded as among the most remarkable in the world. The cathedral blends Romanesque and Gothic styles and contains wonderful tomb sculptures of the 14th century. The city of Lisbon is crowned by a picturesque Moorish castle of the 10th century. The broad and beautiful Avenida da Liberdade runs through one of the most fashionable parts of Lisbon. Be sure to see the fabulous greenhouses of the Estufa Fria (cool garden) in Edward the Seventh Park nearby.

A visit to the harbor and the native fish market will give you an excellent chance to see the varinas (lady fish-vendors) in their tartanplaid costumes, reminiscent of the Scottish dress. The botanical and zoological gardens are among Europe's finest. Black Horse Square in the lower part of the city, which was rebuilt after an earthquake in 1755, is surrounded by fine classical buildings. You will find that Lisbon's hills would be rough going if it weren't for the ascensores, outdoor elevators that lift you up the hills for less than half a cent. Eiffel designed the one at Rua Santa Justa. These are just a few things to see in Lisbon.

ARTS — There are Roman, Visigothic, Moorish, Romanesque, Gothic, Renaissance, baroque, neoclassic, and some modern buildings in Portugal. A unique Portuguese style, the Manuelino (15th-16th centuries), is exuberantly decorated with nautical and maritime motifs glorifying Portugal's rich Age of Discoveries. The Mosteiro dos Jeronimos and Torre de Belem in Lisbon are representative of this art.

There is an important collection of 15th- and 16th-century Portuguese paintings in Lisbon's Ancient Art Museum. See, too, the beautiful examples of Spanish, Flemish, Italian, German, and other painters, and a collection of goldsmiths' art, ceramics and tapestry. The Contemporary Art Museum in Lisbon, the Soares does Reis Museum in Oporto, the Machado de Castro Museum in Coimbra and the Grão Vasco Museum in Viseu display the most characteristic Portuguese paintings and sculptures of the 19th and 20th centuries. The Royal Coaches Museum in Lisbon, Marine Museum and the Popular Art Museum are truly remarkable.

MADEIRA

LOCATION & SIZE — The island of Madeira is situated 625 miles southwest of Lisbon, and is approximately 35 miles long, and 14 miles wide.

CHARACTERISTICS — The scenic beauty of the island ranks with the most famous anywhere. There's sea bathing year round, and it is ideal for deep-sea fishing and other water sports. Madeira wine and embroideries are the chief industries. Funchal is the capital city of the island and has a population of about 100,000. There is a wonderful panoramic view to be seen from Pico dos Barcelos of the city of Funchal and the surrounding mountains. The typical fishing village of Camara de Lobos is a half hour from Funchal, and is well known to painters. Sir Winston Churchill painted several landscapes there.

CLIMATE — The weather is generally perfect on this beautiful island. The average temperature in February is about 61°.

CURRENCY — Portuguese escudos.
